Great Change Is Seen Throughout Soviet Domains

RIGA, April 13.—It becomes daily more apparent that there has been a great modification in the internal economic policy of the Russian soviets.

Moscow despatches show that village life has been practically restored to its pre-revolution status. A decree promulgated by Lenine authorities the re-establishment of the co-operative societies in Russia and invites them to aid the soviet government which they have hitherto opposed.

The cooperatives, who have maintained organizations in England, France and Germany are now discussing the question whether they will accept Lenine's invitation.

STATE OF SEIGE RULES ATHENS

LONDON, April 13.—The Greek assemly today apopted a resolution declaring a state of seige in Athens, according to a despatch from the Greek capital.

The internal situation in Greece has been increasingly critical over since the crushing of the Greek army by the Turks some ten days ago. King Constantine's throne has been reported to be again 'shaky." Fresh reserves have been called up and attempts are being made to rally the hellenic people for another offensive against Mustapha Kemal's nationalist forces. Last reports of the military situation were extremely gloomy from the Greek standpoint, Constantine's army having been completely rolled up and thrown back upon the defences near Broussa. Venizelos, who was virtually exiled when Constantine returned to the throne, was reported to be hastening to Athens to aid the government in the crisis.

ELYRIA CIVIC ORGANIZATION MEMBERS APPROVE COMPLETING ELYRIA WATER WORKS PROJECT

Six of the Eight Clubs and Societies Represented at Special Meeting of Council—$500,000 Additional Bonds Not to Raise Water Rates

ELYRIA—Informal approval of $500,000 additional bonds to complete the Elyria water works improvement was given at a special meeting of the city council as a committee of the whole and the Civic Organization composed of representatives from eight Elyria clubs.

It was brought out that the issuance of half amillion dollars more bonds over the $1,000,000 approved by the voters will not cause another increase in the rates, officials declaring that the water rate increase recently made adequately provides for the establishing of a sinking fund. The audience was informed that under the old rates, the prices are too low and no sinking fund was created.

The additional $500,000 will provide for necessary improvements not included in the original plans which was later found to have left out several imperative features.

The representatives of the various clubs told the council that they would like to hear a representative of the city explain in details what has been accomplished in the water works improvement and what is needed to complete the work as outlined. With this in view Mayor Jones will address the Central Labor Union tonight and the Chamber of Commerce on April 25 and a speaker was to address the Woman's Civic Club gathering this afternoon, Mrs. J. B. Loughry requesting a talker who can withstand a bombardment of questions as she said the members of the club are prepared to delve deeply into the problem and want to feel free to ask innumerable questions.

Six Out of Eight Present

Six of the eight clubs, members of the Civic Organization, were present at the meeting last night. The clubs represented were the Kiwanis, Exchange, Woman's Civic, Chamber of Commerce, Central Labor Union and Rotary with Better Business Club and Young Men's Business Club having no committee in attendance.

It is estimated that $355,000 will be needel to complete the construction work at the pumping station and that the $150,000 additional will enable the laying of the pipe into the city instead of stopping the second line at a point two miles this side of Jenfield Junction.

The route proposed to bring the second water main into Elyria is via the proposed site of the $4,500,000 tinplate mills and then along West River road to the city. Engineer John Rice of the Morris-Knowles Co., pointed out that this second line takes in a rich manufacturing possibility territory which will eventually bring additional revenue to the city and paves the way for annexing this section ultimately. Mr. Rice said that Elyria is able to supply water to the proposed new tinplate mills at a cheaper cost than Lorain because of having a direct line and because of the additional pressure which is necessary if Lorain expects to pump water over the elevation in the southern end of the city. As a result of the additional pressure, which is held an expensive item, Elyria has the advantage over Lorain in ultimately annexing the land now lying between Elyria and Lorain.

Four Councilmen Absent.

There was considerable comment over the fact that the city council had invited the members of the various clubs and the citizens to meet with the council and discuss the issue with the result that but three of the seven councilmen being present. Councilmen Hazelton, Stark and Tattersall were present and Councilmen Andrus, Winslow, Cautle and Halpin were conspicious by their absence.

Engineer John Rice reviewed the water works improvement from its inception. He said a survey made at the instigation of the council in 1918 by Mr. Clark, of Toledo, estimated $752,000 as the cost of the proposed improvement but which only provided for the second line to Penfield Junction instead of to Elyria and left out essential construction work at the power station which is needed to provide for the needs of the city for many years to come.

The engineer explained the trial and tribulations encountered by the Board of Control in letting the contracts for the improvement. He said that bids were rejected and readvertised as much as three times before a contract was awarded. This he said resulted in the city saving between $150,000 and $200,000. He said that contracts let and completed or under completion totaled $820,000 of the $1,000,000 bond issue. He said the original estimates called for the laying of 15,000 feet of pipe whereas 24,000 feet had been laid and 5000 additional feet of pipe have been purchased and remain to be laid.

Machinery Purchased.

The machinery for the four buildings at the pumping station have been purchased but the buildings remain to be erected which includes a covering for the coagulating basin ,the filtration reservoir and the power plant building.

Constructing the second main parallel with the main on Lake avenue was objected to because of a break in one line being liable to undermine the second main and result in both lines being put out of commission. The consruction work on the main as shut-offs at intervals which, in the event of a break, only puts out of commission the link where the break occurs and does not inconvenience other users.

In answer to a question from Judge Lee Stroup as to how adequately the improvements will serve the city Mr. Rice said that the systems as now contemplated and which is two-thirds completed will adequately serve the needs of the city until 1940. He said the plan of construction is such that additional units can be added as the city expands. Mr. Rice thought that by 1925 or 1930 that the old pumps will have to be removed and replaced with new pumps of a larger capacity.

Parallel Lines Not Desirable.

Hoarce Beavor asked the engineer if it would not be cheaper to construct the second main along the present main on Lake avenue. Mr. Rice said that this is not desirable, although the second line along West River road would require an additional cost of between $30,000 and $40,000. He said that the question of damage suits will seriously enter into the question which it is thought could be largely eliminated by the proposed route. Mayor Jones said he understood that the county commissioners would absolutely not consent to having the second main laid along

England Faces Biggest Strike In Her History

BY EARLE C. REEVES
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

LONDON, April 13. —The triple alliance has ordered its members to go on strike at 10 o'clock Friday night.

Shortly after the triple alliance order was made known, the organizations of engineers, clerks and electricians formally notified the alliance that they are ready to join the strike the moment they are asked to do so.

A strike of these workers would add 265,000 to the total of idle employes as follows:

Engineers and firemen 75,000 clerks 90,000; electricians 100,000.

Together with the miners, the rail men and transport workers constitute the triple alliance, directly controlling approximately 4,000,000 workers Besides about 1,000,000 other workers will be made jobless by the strike.

The strike which now can be averted only by an eleventh hour backdown by one side or the other, would be the most gigantic and most complete in the history of Europe with the possible exception of the German general strike in 1918 which led to the collapse of kaiserism and the creation of a republic.

Mobs did heavy damage to rolling stock. Looting was indulged in at many points Marines and reserves were rushed to the scene in motor trucks.

NO AMNESTY UNTIL PEACE IS PERFECTED

WASHINGTON, April 13.—President Harding indicated strongly today that he will take no action on general amnesty on political prisoners until the United States is formally at peace with the central powers.

The president received a delegation, which made a plea for general amnesty, but gave the strong indication that he contemplates no action along this line at this time and that he would wait first for a declaration of the end of the state of war before moving with regard to so called political prisoners.

PRESIDENT'S POSITION ON COLOMBIAN TREATY IS CLEARED BY LODGE

By J. BART CAMPBELL,
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON,, April 13.—President Harding's reasons for desiring ratification of the long disputed Colombian treaty were expounded in the senate by Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, republican leader and chairman of the senate foreign relations committee.

Supporting Senator Lodge in upholding the administration's contention that payment of $25,000,000 in gold to Colombia for territory diverted to the Panama canal zone will promote friendly relations between the South and Central Americas was Senator Knox, republican of Pennsylvania.

Leading the opposition to ratification were Senators Kellogg of Minnesota, Borah, Idaho; and Johnson of California, progressive republicans.

It was charged by the treaty's opponents that the big American oil interests are behind the move to "placate Colombia with millions in American gold" because of their rich holdings in the Colombian oil fields. This was not denied by the treaty's supporters, who argued that if American oil interests in the South American republic are not to be supplanted by British interests and if Great Britain is to be prevented from adding Colombia to the long list of countries in which she possesses an oil monopoly friendly relations with Columbia must be encouraged and American interests afforded adequate protection within her borders.

AMERICAN LEGION TO ORGANIZE BALL TEAM

ELYRIA—The American Legion held a meeting last evening at which it was decided to put a fast ball team into the field. KIWANIS CLUBS BACK RELIEF FOR VETERANS

CLEVELAND, O., April 13—Full weight of the influence of about 500 Kiwanis clubs in the country is to be given the American Legion's program for relief work among ex-soldiers.

This was announced at the International Kiwanis club convention headquarters in Cleveland, following a meeting of the executive committee of the organization at which letters from F. W. Galbraith, national commander of the Legion, were read. It is likely the matter of soldier relief will be a subject of discussion at the international convention of the Kiwanians to be held here June 21-25.

"The Kiwanis club executive committee has endorsed the American Legion's program and is now recommending to the individual Kiwanis clubs that they take steps to assist the Legion in carrying the program through," Assistant Secretary Clark said.

The Kiwanis organization of professional and business leaders in almost 500 cities of the country and with about 50,000 members I am sure, will do everything in its power to see that the ex-service men are properly taken care of."

HIGH LIGHTS IN PRESIDENT'S FIRST MESSAGE TO CONGRESS

"In the existing league of nations would governing with its super powers, this republic will have no part."

"To establish the state of technical peace without further delay, I should approve a declaratory resolution to that effect, with the qualifications essential to protect all our rights."

"It would be idle to declare for separate treaties of peace with the central powers. The wiser course would seem to be the acceptance of the confirmation of our rights and interests as already provided and to engage under the existing treaty XXXX."

"First in mind must be the solution of our problems at home even though some phases of them are inseparably linked with our foreign relations."

"I know of no more pressing problem at home than to restrict our national expenditures within the limits or our national income."

"The most substantial relief from the tax burden must come for the present from the readjustment of internal taxes."

"The urgency for an instant tariff enactment for emergency only, cannot be too much emphasized."

"The maturer revision of our tariff laws should be based on the policy of protection, resisting that selfishness which turns to greed."

"Without the spirit of hostility or haste in accusation of profiteering some suitable inquiry by congress might speed the price readjustment to normal relationship."

"Railway rates and cost of operation must be reduced."

"Labor must join management in understanding that the public which pays is the public to be served."

The American people expect congress unfailingly to voice the gratitude of the republic in a generous and practical way to its defenders in the world war. Congress must perfect the policy of generous gratitude and conscientious administration must stamp out abuses in the very beginning."

"Congress ought to wipe the stain of barbaric lynching from the banners of a free and orderly representative democracy."

"We are ready to co-operate with other nations to approximate disarmament, but merest prudence forbids that we disarm alone."

CLEAR DISTRIBUTION OF LIQUOR FOR SICK

WASHINGTON, April 13—The problem of how beer and wine for the sick shall be available through retail druggists without delay, was given consideration by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon.

The beer and wine dilemma will be cleared up within a few days, Secretary Mellon said, by the appointment of a new revenue commissioner. Commissioner Williams' resignation took effect last night.

Good Night Stories
By Blanche Silver

Illustrated by Nova Harrison

THE ADVENTURE OF THE LAZY BUTTERFLY.

IT was a bright, beautiful, sunshiny day when Missy Butterfly started to fly over the meadows.

She was tired and cross and couldn't see the golden sunshine, or if she did, she didn't pay any atention to it. She fluttered here and there, worrying and fretting about everything and everybody she met.

The birds' music sounded too loud, and she didn't hesitate to stop Robin Redbreast and tell him so. She didn't know it, but Robin Redbreast had a great desire to gobble her right down. But he changed his mind and went on chirping merrily.

Later in the day he told Miss Jenny Wren he surely would have eaten Missy Butterfly only she was in such a cross humor he was afraid it might spoil his digestion.

Missy Butterfly sailed away, being angry with Robin Redbreast.

She told Miss Chipmunk her tail was not nearly so long and pretty as her Cousin Fluffy Red Squirrel's, but Miss Chipmunk only chuckled and bounded away after berries.

It wouldn't have done Miss Chipmunk any good to be discontented with her tail, and she knew it. And this fact enraged Missy Butterfly all the more.

"I can't see why things are run the way they are, anyway," she sulked. "Every one has to spend so much effort working for their food, they never have time to stop and see how ridiculous they look. I suppose Miss Chipmunk thinks she is quite as good-looking as her cousin, but I'll say she is not." She fluttered to a weed which bent over a bubbling brook. From there she could gaze down at her own lovely reflection in the cool water.

"Well!" exclaimed a cheery voice, and Mrs. Black Ant peeked up from the grasses at the edge of the stream. "I suppose you have your work all finished or are you off duty today?"

"Work!" sniffed Missy Butterfly. "I should say I'm not working. That seems to be about all folks have to think about. Work—work—work—from morning until night. Why, at every flower I visit I'm asked to carry either a bundle of pollen or something else to another flower. I'm getting tired of it, and sometimes I just wish I had a little home some place where I could sit and rest and not have to work for a living."

"Oh, dear," laughed Mrs. Black Ant, "what a terribly droll life that would be! Why, I wouldn't give up my home for anything. It's true I have to work hard for a living, but, dear me, I'm much happier for doing so."

Missy Butterfly looked up and spied a loose, webby house swung among the bushes, and she shook her head sadly.

"That's the kind of a house I would like," she sighed. "I could just sit there and my meals would come to me."

"Well, why not try it?" suggested Mrs. Black Ant. "The spider who did live there went on a journey this morning. It will stand idle if you don't take it."

Missy Butterfly's face lighted up, and she sailed over to the webby house, but her beautiful wings became so entangled in its silken meshes that Jenny Wren, who wasn't so particular about her diet as Robin Redbreast, flew down from a tree where she was hiding, and soon gobbled her up.

"No place in this meadow for a lazy grumbler," sighed Mrs. Black Ant, as she scurried away to her work. "If she had been cheery and busy she wouldn't have come to such an untimely end. Folks who complain and shirk their duties usually come to some misfortune."

Why Madge Hesitated to Accede to Grace Draper's Request.

SO terribly wronged."

For a minute Grace Draper's pleading, anguished face vanished from my vision while over and over in my ears sounded the phrase she had just used for the second time since she had accosted me in the upper hall of the house I had come to inspect.

What did she mean by this phrase, or rather what meaning did she expect me to glean from it? Did she intend me to believe—I clenched my fingers into my palms at the thought which had come to me. This was not the first time it had come to me. I had harbored it when I had received the letter she had written me in which she had used a similar expression. It was with an effort that I said:

"What do you mean by terribly wronged me?"

Her eyelids drooped quickly, covering her eyes for an instant before she answered. Again the insistent little doubt at the back of my brain forced itself upon me. Was she compelled to hide the expression of her eyes until she could be sure of controlling them? Was she deliberately hiding them so I might gain the impression that she meant to conceal something? Or was her action the result of an embarrassment, a shame, which was genuinely swaying her?

"You—ought—to—know," she said at last, her voice broken, husky, and in the pause before her next utterance I imagined that the beating of my heart could be heard, so violently was it thumping against my side. "You—know—how hard I tried—vainly, of course—to win your husband from you, and—how they said I—tried—to—get—him—killed—that time his airplane fell. But they lied. I didn't—I didn't, yet they put me in prison for it."

Memory's Warning.

No drooping eyelids now! Her eyes, imploring, anguished, looked straight into mine, almost compelling a belief in her sincerity. Her hands were twisted horribly together, as if she had pulled them out of shape in their clutch one upon the other. I think I should have surrendered utterly to her appeal if it had not been for a memory which flashed before me as vividly as if portrayed upon a cinema screen.

Again I stood beside the bed upon which Grace Draper lay apparently delirious and dying from her self-inflicted wound after her attempt to shoot Dicky. Again I listened to her ravings, and then to the unmasking of her pretended delirium by Dr. Pettit. And the voice with which she addressed me sounded as clearly in my ears as the words she had just uttered.

"And you will never know, will you, Madge, dear, just how much of what I have said was false and how much true?"

Only One Request.

She had flung that barbed doubt of Dicky's truth at me when she was facing almost certain death. I had succeeded in pushing it so far down in my consciousness that rarely did I feel its sharp thrust. But her hesitation, her hurried qualifying phrase, "vainly, of course," dragged it jaggedly to the surface, and I knew that no matter what decision I made for or against her, the festering track of that old barb would remain with me.

She was speaking again, and I could hardly believe that I was really listening to Grace Draper, so humble, so broken the tired voice, whose tones once had been so clear and musical.

"You can afford to be generous," she said sadly. "You have won all along the line. Look at the wreck of what I was, while you are prettier than ever, and your youth has not gone as mine has. And you have love and home and a child, which I shall never know. All I ask is pardon from you, and the chance to drag out my drab existence free from terror. Surely you can give me those."

Again there sounded in my brain a tiny note of warning. But it was faint, so light in the scale as compared with the weight of the girl's tragic, abased appeal, that I put it aside and stretched out my hands impulsively toward her. Her piteous contrasting of her lot with mine had broken down my last barrier.

"My pardon I give you freely," I said simply, for in honesty I could not disclaim the truth that she had injured me almost beyond forgiveness. "And tell me how I can be of assistance to you."

She caught my hands in hers and bent over them. I was afraid she meant to kiss them, and though I forgave her, I felt that I couldn't bear the touch of her lips. But hot tears, not kisses fell upon them, and I heard her broken murmurs of thankfulness. When at last she lifted her head a look of quiet peace had succeeded the anguish which had been portrayed in her face.

"The forgiveness means most to me," she said, and if every sincerity showed in a face it appeared to speak from hers. "And there is only one bit of assistance that I need from you or shall ever ask from you."

"And that is—" I said.

A touch of the old mockery twisted her lips.

"That you call off your faithful Fidos."

THREE-MINUTE JOURNEYS

Where an Apron of Many Colors Is Worn for "Show"

By TEMPLE MANNING

THOSE who delight in strikingly decorative costumes find in Czecho-Slovakia ample opportunity to view and to collect charming examples of old-world native dress. For in this newly-formed state, there are the purest examples of Bohemian, Moravian, Silesian and Slovakian costumes. One may find it hard to tell them apart, for the array is bewildering.

Any sunny holiday or Sunday, the streets of some of the cities and the lanes of nearly every village seem to blossom with brilliant-colored human flowers. The men favor white. Some wear high boots brightly polished, though most show the dust of long walks into these boots are tucked white trousers and their shirts are spotlessly white, though often gaily embroidered. Many wear gay sashes which are usually of red and black, some display vests, in place of coats, which are thickly braided, and complete their attire with round-topped black hats.

The women are not so alike in dress. They run the gamut of the colors. Their skirts are usually black and always short. Their stockings are for protection in their walks as well as for display. Some have small, bright designs knitted into the dull black. The waist-length jackets they wear are usually quite plain save for hand-made lace around the base and on the sleeves. The head shawls sound the varying color note. But it is in the aprons that the love of color is more clearly shown.

Green is the favorite color. Next in popularity comes gold or yellow, silver, pink, blue, cerise and flaming rose. Usually the embroideries which display these colors are upon dark foundations. Some, however, are white. In both types gay ribbons sometimes play a part. And often the white mutton sleeves of the waists are gayly embroidered to complete the radiant effect the wearer's apron lends as she strolls down the street or along the country lane.

Like every other part of these wonderful costumes the apron is usually a heritage. Often these costumes are handed down from generation to generation. They are not work aprons. Indeed, the Czecho-Slovakia maid doesn't put her apron on when she enters the house—she does it only when she is going out to capture the eye of some swain who long has paid her court.

CARESSING is the touch of April breezes, which frolic with the spring birds in the sky. As lilting is the spirit of the one who wanders forth in a frock as alluring as the springtime dress of Mother Earth, to meet the one SHE loves. Red as the cherries on her perky hat are the lips from which she wafts a kiss of welcome—elusive and yet as tender as the breeze's touch—with a gesture which reserves more than it bestows. Half-closed are her eyes—as if she would hide their exquisite tenderness.

CLARA MORRIS WRITES ABOUT Good Manners

Clara Morris

I THINK there is so much hypocrisy in good manners," said a woman whom I know very well, the other day.

"You mean," I quickly retorted, "hypocrisy may be found in fine manners?"

She tossed her head defiantly, declaring:

"That is a distinction, not a difference."

I persisted in my defence.

"You know quite well," said I, "that good manners mean sincere regard for others, self-discipline and service. Fine manners may mean being merely polite and well-bred in behavior."

The lack of good manners in all classes is to be deplored. It has been thought of sufficient importance for an agitation to be started in one city to teach manners in the public schools.

This slump in conventional dignity, this letting down of social bars, is the recognized aftermath of war.

Those who can recall the effect of the civil war upon manners must shudder at the memory.

Today the frenzy of the world war is past, but the world has not yet recovered its poise.

Let us, however, take notice of the stupendous development of real unselfishness in our own people—the practical unselfishness which has made America the hope of famishing European babies and mothers.

What has this to do with the question of manners?

Everything!

The Charm of Repose

For selfishness is the supreme foe of good manners. And in this real solicitude for suffering humanity, there may be found hope for the redemption of American manners which, at their best, are agreeable and likely to win favor in any official or private gathering.

There is no need to worry over the lost manners of some of our men, for the loss is only temporary.

Many of us women, however, will acquire better manners when we learn how to conquer our nerves and conserve our nervous energies. For in spite of beauty, cleverness and good taste, some women lack the exquisite charm of repose.

What Manners Are

Many young women in fashionable social life, as well as some actresses, are incapable of seating themselves gracefully. They will crouch, they will flop, they will stand in front of a chair and fidget before dropping into it.

The average American woman can't—keep still.

This is the chief blemish of American manners and, just as soon as we women are convinced of this fact, we will conquer our nerves and acquire poise.

Let us teach our children manners for home use as a beginning, and, before we know it, there will be no reason left to complain of American manners.

"Manners are the happy ways of doing things," wrote Emerson.

THE HOME KITCHEN
By JEANNETTE YOUNG NORTON
Author of "Mrs. Norton's Cook Book"

Some Foreign Ways to Prepare Common Vegetables.

MANY of us do not make the most of our country's vegetable crops, which are plentiful and of most satisfactory quality. Many modern housekeepers use the canned products for different and, to them, excellent reasons.

But there are some old-fashioned housewives who would go out of their way to get the fresh varieties and not mind in the least giving time to their preparation.

Foreign women feel the same way, as a rule, and here are some ways they prepare certain vegetables:

Polish Cauliflower.

Select a white, full head of cauliflower. Soak it in salt water for a half-hour to drive out insects, then boil in slightly salted water until tender. Drain thoroughly, and after cutting in four pieces lay on a hot dish. Rub the inside of a frying pan with a bud of garlic, then melt some butter in it. Add a cupful and a half of fine, dry breadcrumbs to the butter and brown them, stirring steadily. Add salt, pepper and a teaspoonful of sugar. When brown, remove from the fire, sprinkle over the cauliflower and top each piece with a tablespoonful of sour cream.

Swiss Brussels Sprouts.

Remove the outer leaves and trim the stems of a basket of fresh brussels sprouts. Boil them quickly in an uncovered kettle. When tender, drain and set aside. Have ready two cupfuls of rich cream sauce, well-seasoned, also a pound of chestnuts which have been boiled and hulled. Add the chestnuts to the sauce, then put in the sprouts. Heat through, season to taste, and serve with roast spring lamb.

Moslem Spinach.

Wash thoroughly a quart of fresh spinach. Boil in a very small quantity of water, drain and chop fine. Add pepper, salt, a large grated onion, the juice of half a lemon, half a cupful of pine nuts, a teaspoonful of sugar, and enough olive oil or melted butter to hold the mass together. Have ready a good crust rolled thin and cut in squares. Fill each square with a spoonful of the spinach. Wet the edges of the crust and pinch together like turnovers, and lay in a buttered pan. Bake until the crust is done.

Armenian Peas.

Soak two cupfuls of dried, yellow peas over night, then boil them until tender. Mash them through a puree seive, moistening slightly with milk. Add salt, paprika and the juice of an onion. Turn into a scalded and floured pudding bag, add a bunch of fresh savory herbs, plunge into boiling water, and boil for one hour. Put the topic, as it is called, on to a hot plate, and pour over it a well-made, smooth tomato sauce.

Spring Dandelions.

Trim and wash the dandelion leaves carefully and let them stand for a few minutes in salted water, then wash again. Boil the greens in a small amount of water. Drain, chop fine, add melted butter, salt, pepper and a teaspoonful of sugar, and heap on a hot dish. Poach as many eggs as are needed to serve one with each portion in enough hot honey to cover the bottom of a small frying pan. Place on top of the dandelion and serve at once.

Apple and Earth Apple.

Peel, boil and mash as many potatoes as are needed. Season with pepper, salt and a generous lump of butter. Beat until light, and add two tablespoonfuls of cream. Spread in a buttered baking dish, cover with a layer of apple sauce, then a few buttered crumbs, and brown in the oven.

Italian Asparagus.

Trim and boil a bunch of fresh, green asparagus. Cut the tips and tender parts into small pieces. Add to them pepper, salt, juice of an onion, a quarter-cupful of grated cheese and a half-cupful of crumbs. Fill buttered ramekins with the mixture. Beat an egg into a half-cupful of cream and pour a little in each ramekin. Bake ten minutes.

How to Remove Superfluous Hair By Beauty Methods

By LUCREZIA BORI
The Famous Spanish Prima Donna

SEVERAL readers have written me regarding the removal of superfluous hairs. One correspondent complains about the fine hairs which cover her face. Another objects to her thick eyebrows and wishes to know how they may be thinned. As there are doubtless many other women who are interested in the removal of superfluous hair I will devote this article to the discussion of the various methods that are favored for their removal.

The simplest way to attain this result is to use peroxide of hydrogen. This should be applied several times during the day, as it bleaches the hairs and makes them less conspicuous. Let it remain on your face for an hour or two after it dries. Then, instead of washing it off with water, rub your skin with some good cold cream. You will find it keeps your complexion smoother and softer.

After several applications of the peroxide the hair will become blond, and in a few days it will break off. If you use peroxide on your eyebrows be very careful not to allow it to touch any more of the hairs than you are desirous of having removed, for peroxide is a bleach. Should your eyebrows be dark, any difference in their color would immediately be noticeable, and I am sure you do not want to call attention to your appearance by such treatment.

Plucking the hairs only helps to increase their growth, so you should never indulge in this practice, nor should you clip them with a pair of scissors, for this also encourages their growth.

If the hairs are very numerous you might use a hair-removing powder. Care, however, must be observed when you use depilatories, as the ingredients of such powders are usually of a very powerful nature. There are many different kinds, but you will find either of the following most effectual:

For Removing Superfluous Hairs.

Sulphate of strontium	8 grams
Oxide of zinc	12 grams
Starch	12 grams

Mix these well, and when you desire to use the powder take a little and mix it with hot water until it has the consistency of paste. Now apply it to the superfluous hairs. You should use enough paste to make it about the thickness of a sheet of blotting paper. Leave this mixture on for one or two minutes. If your skin can stand it, you may allow it to remain on for five or even ten minutes. Then remove the paste with oil, and the hair will come away with it. After this bathe your skin gently with hot water and rub cold cream into it.

Another Superfluous Hair Remover.

Collodion	85 parts
Iodine	0.75 parts
Essence of turpentine	1.5 parts
Alcohol	13 parts
Castor oil	2 parts

With a small brush apply a little of this mixture for three or four days, giving a generous coat. When you pull off the collodion plaster which this has formed you will find the hairs adhering to its inner surface. Cleanse the skin with hot water and mollify with cold cream.

If there are any experts in your vicinity who give electric treatments it may be best for you to try electrolysis. Of course, this is an expensive process, and even then the hairs will grow in again. As it appears again it may be somewhat weaker, and after several treatments it may be so fine you can remove it with a pair of pincers. Some of the roots are killed by this process, but there is always the danger that the electric treatment will stimulate the growth of others.

On the whole, the safest and perhaps most satisfactory way of dealing with superfluous hairs is to bleach them with peroxide so that they are hardly noticeable. But even this treatment must be kept up as the new hairs naturally retain their original hue.

YOUR HEALTH

What "Poison Ivy" Is and the Best Local Remedies

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
Commissioner of Health, New York City

DR. COPELAND

IT will soon be the season of green grass and bursting buds. Then every one who prizes good health will walk in the country, climb the hills and search for the spring flowers. There will be several months of developing foliage, unfolding blossoms and gorgeous vines.

Every one who loves Nature and spends all the time he can in God's out-of-doors should know something of botany. He should know the names of the common flowers and recognize them at sight.

Unfortunately, there are a few plants which are poisonous. In our country, the most common of these is the so-called poison ivy.

The scientific name is rhus toxicodendron. It is sometimes referred to as poison oak.

This plant may be like a little shrub, two or three feet high, or it may grow to a greater height. When it finds something to lean upon, such as a stone wall, or a tree, it grows as a vine. In a few years it will cover to the very top a great, dead tree. When left to itself the trunk of the vine may become as thick as your forearm.

No one need be ignorant of the identity of this plant. It has a bright green, smooth, glossy leaf. The leaves appear in groups of three. You will recognize it immediately and distinguish the poison ivy from all other similar plants, because the stem of the middle leaf is always two or three times larger than the stems of the two other leaves.

Some persons are very susceptible to the poison of ivy. It seems almost as if the very air blowing across the plant is impregnated with this penetrating poison. Especially if he is warm and perspiring, the sensitive person is easily poisoned by the slightest contact.

In a few hours there is redness of the exposed parts, swelling, burning and itching. Little blisters form, increase in number and size and may become infected. The discomfort may be very great. Sometimes the disease resembles erysipelas. There may be fever and prostration. The constitutional symptoms are often surprisingly severe.

If you suspect you have come in contact with poison ivy, wash your hands and face with quantities of soap and water. Then applications of alkaline solutions, like a solution of baking soda, will be found helpful. Borax or ammonia water may be used.

The best local remedy I know anything about is grindelia robusta. One part of the fluid extract to six parts of water, may be applied. Gauze or cloths dipped in this solution and laid on the affected parts will promote comfort. Creolin may also be added, to advantage.

Buttermilk and crude petroleum are remedies sometimes recommended.

For the intense itching an application of hyposulphite of soda, a tablespoonful to a quart of water, will give relief in many cases.

If you are susceptible to poison ivy, do not fail to take along a bottle of grindelia and a package of hyposulphite when you pack your bag for a week in the country.

Answers to Health Questions

H. E. K. Q—Is there a remedy for blushing? I am afflicted with this annoyance, and it is very embarrassing. Kindly advise me what to do.

A—The blushing will be overcome when you forget yourself. Mingle with people as much as you can.

MRS. R. D. Q—I am a girl 17 and try to keep my skin in the best condition, but still my face always looks yellow and has some freckles on it. What can I use to whiten my skin?

A—Use pure soap for your face. Freckles are not always unattractive to look at and preparations to remove them are often not safe to use.

JACK S. Q—Please let me know what will take a greenish color off my teeth and whiten them?

A—Any good tooth paste used thoroughly every night and morning and after each meal will help you. But you should first go to a dentist and have your teeth thoroughly cleaned.

ANXIOUS G. S. Q—What would you suggest for a person in order to get some troublesome thought off one's mind? Would you write me personally if I sent an addressed, stamped envelope?

A—Yes, indeed. I will be very glad to advise you if you send a self-addressed, stamped envelope, restating your question.

M. D. Q—I have a distress in my stomach at times. I am also troubled with hives. Kindly advise me.

A—You probably eat some food which doesn't agree with you. Watch your diet to find out what particular food is at fault. Give up first one food, then another, until by results you discover the one which causes the trouble.

F. P. Q—I am suffering from what the doctors call "neuritis" in my arms and hands. Do you think there is a cure?

A—Yes, it can be cured. Do not be discouraged. Follow your doctor's advice carefully.

Dr. Copeland will answer for readers of this paper questions on medical, hygienic and sanitation subjects that are of general interest. Where the subject of a letter is such that it cannot be published in this column, Dr. Copeland will, when the question is a proper one, write you personally, if a self-addressed, stamped envelope is enclosed. Address ALL INQUIRIES to Dr. R. S. Copeland, in care of this office.

Advice to Girls
By ANNIE LAURIE

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE.

I am 19 years old, and have been going with a young man for six years. We intend to be married as soon as I finish school, two years hence. Do you think it is right to let him kiss me? M. B.

M. B. Unless you are definitely engaged to him, my dear, it would be just as well for you to defer the kissing until you are—especially since it is a long time before you could marry. You have waited so long, be patient a little longer.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

Somehow I cannot control my temper, and when any young man calls upon me I always lose my temper if he says anything I don't like. What shall I do? BROWN EYES.

BROWN EYES: All you can do, Brown Eyes, is to continue in your efforts to overcome your bad temper. Keep at it until you have conquered. It is encouraging to have the desire to master this condition, and I am sure you will succeed if you keep everlastingly at it.

Annie Laurie will welcome letters of inquiry on subjects of feminine interest from young women readers of this paper and will reply to them in these columns. Letters to Miss Laurie should be addressed to her, in care of this office.

Today's Fashion
By VERA WINSTON

This Attractive Spring Suit Is Made of Light Blue Wool Fabric.

THIS suit is one which will find much favor with the smartly-garbed woman.

The jacket is fashioned from an all-wool fabric in a pleasing shade of light blue.

The skirt shows a clever use of lavender silk stitching in a plaided design on gray woolen material. This is also used for insets on the lapels and cuffs of the coat.

A handsome steel buckle is chosen to fasten the belt of blue which is striped by a band of the gray.

A taffeta hat with jaunty coque trimming at one side completes the costume.

To-morrow's HOROSCOPE
By Genevieve Kemble

THURSDAY, APRIL 14.

A particularly brilliant chain of stellar forces are arrayed to make this a day of unusual gratification and achievement. From the stellar hosts there is nothing to thwart or defeat, and all manner of affairs are most propitiously forecast by the prevailing planetary figures. There is indication of removal, change and travel with splendid success. There is every prospect of advancement, expansion and increase of business, and financial return. A similar felicitous condition is presaged in the realm of the heart and home, and in social and artistic concerns.

Those whose birthday it is are under particularly happy and prosperous auguries for the year. They may change or travel with success, and young persons may expect courtship and marriage. A child born on this day will be popular, ambitious and enterprising.

FAVORS U. S. CRAFT.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—A bill exempting all American vessels, in coastwise or foreign service from payment of tolls for passage thru the Panama canal was introduced in the senate by Senator Jones, republican of Washington, chairman of the senate commerce committee.

COLONIAL

"The Nut"

ELYRIA— Douglas Fairbanks displays more fashionable clothes in "The Nut" his latest cinema creation, now on view at the Colonial Theater, than ever before in his entire film career. Never at any time in this feature is he seen in a character make-up. In film parlance, "The Nut" is known as a "dress-up picture." All told, the star wears twelve different suits, each representing the acme of its particular style. The apparel was made to order for the star in London by the most famous tailors in the world, while Fairbanks was abroad on his honey-moon.

AMERICAN

"Outside The Law"

ELYRIA—There are countless thrills in the Priscilla Dean feature, "Outside the Law," which now is on view at the American Theatre. The thrills are all plausible, arising from natural situations in the story, by Tod Browning, and handled in that director's best manner The scenes are laid in the San Francisco underworld, on the water front, in the Chinese quarters, on Knob Hill and in the most palatial mansion of the California metropolis.

ELYRIA CIVIC ORGANIZATION

Lake avenue and Service Director H. A. Beck corroborated this statement.

R. J. Whelan asked if there had been no budget provided before the improvement was started and whether or not contracts had been let accordingly. Mr. Rice said that the market conditions last year were such with rising costs of materials and labor, both of which were unstaple, resulted in the conclusion to let the contracts separately. Mr. Rice said that no provision had been made for a low-lifting pumping station which pumps the water through a pipe which extends 1,500 feet into Lake Eire. He said one pump which has been estimated to cost $45,000 had been purchased for $51,000. He said a boiler in use is obsolete and had been in use over 20 years. He said the plans provided for a 500 horsepower boiler had been planned to cost $28,000 and a contract was let for a 600 horsepower boiler at a cost of $1,000 less which with improved mechanical stokers will enable the boilers to produce 1,200 horsepower. Filteration plant had been estimated to cost $70,000 had been advanced to $85,000.

Prospect of City Park.

Engineer Rice pointed out that the scheme of laying out the buildings at the pumping station is such that it could be easily laid out as a municipal park just as many cities are doing. He said the city's property on the shore of Lake Erie provides excellent park and bathing facilities.

Mayor Jones said that the former water rate did not provide for a sinking fund and that the rate recently increased will pay off bonds which should have been provided for during the past ten or fifteen years.

E. Jay Howenstine, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce inquired as to the chances of saving 25 or 50 per cent. of the contemplated $500,000 improvements by delaying the work. Mr. Rice said that some of the work cannot be held up and market has dropped as much as they are going to and he believed now is the logical times to complete the work, being that the improvement could be completed now as cheaply as at any time.

Union Men Can Bid.

Horace Beavor inquired if Elyria laboring men could not do the construction work on the proposed buildings. He was told that the state law prohibits the city doing its own work, but that there is nothing to stop the Elyria union men from putting in a bid for the work.

Council Clerk Dan Symons said that $150,000 5 1-2 per cent. water works bonds offered yesterday had no bidders.

H. M. Andress said that if the council knew what they needed and knew how to get the money necessary he could see no reason why the necessary improvement should be delayed and further if the above statements are true he couldn't see the necessity of calling in the Civic Organization for a consultation. Council President Hewitt said that the conference was called in order that the council's action may have the approval of the citizens and also to let the public know fully what the city is doing.

Property Protection Paramount.

Mayor Jones said that the voters of Elyria sanctioned the water works improvement by a nine to one vote. He says that since the people approved the contemplated improvement that there has been several serious breaks and that the protection of $50,000,000 worth of property in Elyria is the paramount issue. Mr. Jones said that the present pumps at the station are liable to go out of commission momentarily and that the situation is extremely serious. The city's chief executive compliments the city on employing the Morris-Knowles Engineering Co., which he said had shown themselves to be very proficent. He also said the citizens of Elyria were co-operating in the improvement and said that when the present plant was erected there was much opposition which resulted in an inadequate plant being erected.

Mr. Whelan said that prices of labor and materials are rapidly dropping and that labor is especially much cheaper and will continue to be cheaper.

City officials said that the original plans did not provide for $30,000 spent for right-of-way and for the purpose of additional land so that now the tract at the pumping station comprises 12 acres.

OBERLIN

OBERLIN TO HAVE NEW HIGH SCHOOL

Voters of Oberlin passed upon the question of a special bond issue in the sum of $250,000, for the construction of a new high school building, Tuesday, April 12.

The resolution calling for a special election was passed by the school board at a meeting held Wednesday, March 23, the ballot set forth the amount of bonds proposed to be issued and cited the fact that a new building is needed to replace the old high school building condemned by the state for use for school purposes after September 1, 1921.

While the use of the old building has been prohibited by the state it is understood that this order will of necessity be modified if work is begun this spring on the erection of a new building. It will be necessary to use the present building for high school purposes until the new one is ready for occupancy. Members of the school board feel sure the new building will be completed by the opening of the school year in 1922.

Last year the board bought a site on N. Main street for $50,000.

The result of the vote is as follows:

Precinct 1.—55 for and 19 against.
Precinct 2—96 for and 17 against, 2 lost.
Precinct 3—37 for and 23 against.
Percinct 4—151 for and 14 against.
Precinct 5—143 for and 9 against, 1 lost.
Percinct 6—105 for and 15 against.
Precinct 7—12 for and 3 against.

Making a total of 599 for and 100 against.

ANNOUNCING
THE INVENTION OF
Thos. A. Edison Jr.
The Ecometer
SAVES GASOLINE, DECREASES CARBON, KEEPS MOTOR RUNNING COOLER AND SMOOTHER
This remarkable invention is a scientifically constructed instrument designed to be attached to the primary air inlet of any carburetor of any motor car. Its purpose is to decrease the consumption of fuel, and increase the general efficiency of the motor.

HOW IT SAVES GASOLINE
The Ecometer allows an increased amount of air to enter the mixture of gasoline and air, over and above what most carburetors can possibly admit. It does this positively and automatically.

HOW IT DECREASES CARBON
The Ecometer causes a more perfectly combustible mixture of gasoline and air. Practically no carbon is left after explosion in so far as the mixture is concerned. Because of the much better mixture the explosions are so powerful that unnecessary lubricating oil that usually works up past the piston rings into the combustion chamber is driven back into the crank case, thereby reducing the amount of carbon formed from this source and resulting in a saving of lubricating oil.

OTHER ADVANTAGES
With the Ecometer the motor runs smoother because a better balanced proportion of air and gasoline is delivered to the motor.
The motor is kept cooler, because a slow burning mixture is eliminated.
The motor can be throttled down to a point where the impulses can easily be counted.
The Ecometer reduces to a minimum the thrashing or intense vibration of the motor as the highest speeds.
The acceleration is greatly increased, because a better combustible mixture produces more powerful explosions—hence a quicker get-away.

MAKE THIS TEST—PROVE IT FOR YOURSELF
This test will prove beyond question the great value of the Ecometer.
Adjust the carburetor for the best possible operation of the engine. Then install the Ecometer and start the engine. You will find your motor choking up with fuel, necessitating turning down needle valve of carburetor to meet the new conditions. This is positive and visible proof that gasoline is being saved.
Assuming the motor is working at the best before installing the Ecometer, you will find that the Ecometer will increase your mileage anywhere between 20 and 50 per cent.

CRETONNE WEEK
AT THE WICKENS COMPANY
April 10th to 17th

Cretonnes as produced in Colonial Drapery fabrics, depict the joyous spirit of springtime in delicate pastel colorings. These and the deeper, richer effects are appropriate for every need in home beautifying, while materials designed in figures and bright colorings attractive to the child's eye are especially suitable for their rompers, bibs, sun hats and play dresses, as well as the draperies in the nursery. Many patterns are especially designed to meet the requirements of the cretonne luncheon and tea sets. Others make up beautifully into charming house dresses, fudge aprons, and even the more exacting sport clothes to be seen on the golf links of every country club and famous seaside resort, since Dame Fashion has decreed that cretonne will hold full sway during the coming season.

CRETONNES
throughout the home lend an air of refined elegance and coziness, especially if Colonial Drapery Fabrics are used. Motives for the designs are gleaned from the world's best art sources.

Whatever the style, size or purpose of the room you wish to beautify you will find appropriate designs, colorings and materials in Colonial Drapery Fabrics.

Let us show you suggestions for the rooms you are going to decorate.

DRAPERIES FOR THE DINING ROOM
Design Rose d'Armour blooming with vari-colored roses, butterflies and tiny buds, brightens the dining and breakfast room, sun parlors and every place where optimism reigns.

Bright and gay childish figures set in a fairyland background with kites and ballons, whole menageries as well as designs, featuring the famous chanticleer, are made up into charming bits of children's wearing apparel that will cheer every childish heart.

Flower designs, blue and white tea cloth materials, and conventional patterns can be used to great advantage in making dresses, aprons, luncheon sets and sport models.

Numerous other attractive home accessories are adapted to cretonnes—boxes or bags for various essentials are readily beautified—padded cretonne covered clothes hangers, wire baskets covered with cretonne, a small telephone-screen, a round candy box, Martha Washington doll or a tray with a silk lining, each may have its place for utility and beauty in the home.

ELYRIA SOCIETY

Rose Moriarty Winning New Laurels

ELYRIA—"Our Rose [illegible]inning more laurels for herself every day in her several political addresses to the House at Columbus. Only two or three weeks ago this Elyria woman made her debut before the state House in her fight for the minimum wage act. At this time she had 200 working girls there to present their cases and President Harding sent, as his representative, his friend and neighbor, Al Jennings.

Miss Moriarity's speech was presented in such a logical and concise way that it tended greatly towards winning the passage of the minimum wage bill. It lasted for an hour and was one of the most talked on the senate This will not only effect her home town, but will benefit all the towns in this state.

She was one of the principal speakers at the second annual convention of the National League of Women Voters which was held at Hotel Statler, Cleveland Monday, April 11. The following from the Cleveland Plain Dealer expresses the nature of her address:

Rose Moriarty, Ohio Republican women's leader, talked of her experiences in party conventions and primaries, and declared that a woman felt toward the primary like she would toward a husband—she wants to do the choosing herself."

SPRING WEDDING IS SOLEMNIZED

ELYRIA—A quiet wedding was solemnized at 8:00 o'clock Tuesday morning at St. Agnes' church by Father Reilley, when Miss Lucella Pitts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pitts of Furnace street, became the bride of William Rigo of Lorain. The couple were unattended and both are well known in society circles both here and in Lorain. They will make a trip to Youngstown where they will be the guest of the bride's sister, after which they will make their future home in Elyria.

Blue Mooners Make Many Plans

ELYRIA.—The Blue Moon Club met last night at the home of Ralph Rogers of 13th street and about 20 of the members were present. During the business meeting it was decided that the club would hold a party in a few weeks time to which all are looking worward with much pleasure Plans for a Blue Moon Summer camp were also discussed and the evening was then devoted to a social time. Dainty refreshments were served by the host and at the next meeting the club will be entertained by Rolland Smith at his home on 514 Park avenue.

Commencement Plans at Oberlin

ELYRIA—Many Elyrians will be interested in the plans that are being made and extensively carried out in Oberlin for the coming commencement exercises: Illumination night, famous all over the country, is being especially planned for and many Elyrians are expecting to attend. The following gives somewhat of an idea of the preparations that are being made by the Oberlin faculty and committees:

Special preparations are being made for the 88th annual Commencement at Oberlin, involving particular emphasis upon the participation of the alumni. The College is offering two handsome trophies to be competed for by the returning classes. A silver bronze cup is ofered for that class having the largest percentage of living members registered during commencement week. A handsome silk banner, worked in crimson and gold, is offered to that class which makes the best appearance in the annual Alumni Parade on Illumination night. The alumni exercises in front of Finney Chapel on this night are being arranged along more important lines than ever before, with a seating capacity practically double that of former years. This step is made necessary by the heavy advance application of the returning classes for places in the line. More classes than ever before are reserving campus houses for class headquarters during the week.

Tom Thumb Wedding Immense Success

ELYRIA—The Tom Thumb Wedding given last night by the Primary department of the Second Congregational Church in the Gates Auditorium was a splendid success. The hall was crowded with spectators who enjoyed it immensely. About forty children took part and all wore costumes to fit their part. Though so young the children are already showing their ability for play-acting. Altogether a very happy evening was spent by the little actors and actresses as well as by the audience.

NINETY-FIVE CLUB TO HEAR SPLENDID PAPERS.

ELYRIA—The Ninety-Five club will meet Thursday with Mrs. A. B. Taylor at her home on Washington avenue. A very interesting program will be given. The following papers will be presented.

George A. Birmingham—A Brief Biographical Note with Typical Passages from the following books: "The Adventures of Dr. Whitty," "The Mayor's Niece," "Spanish Gold?" Mrs. Horan.

Aenone Somerville and Martin Ross—A Brief Biographical Notes with Selected Readings. Mrs. Tucker.

PROFESSOR SHERMAN TO ENTERTAIN ALUMNI CLUB

ELYRIA. — The Alumni-Friendship Club will hold a meeting tonight with supper at 6 o'clock. Professor Sherman will give one of his lectures on drama and at this meeting he will illustrate his talk with lantern slides which is sure to prove most interesting. All the members and their friends are cordially invited to attend and bring their friends.

DANCE TO BE PLEASING EVENT

ELYRIA—Knights of St. John and Ladies Auxiliary will give a dance Thursday evening, April 14, in the K. of C. hall to which all members and their friends will be made most cordially welcome.

GUILD ACCOMPLISHES MUCH WORK

ELYRIA.—The meeting of the North side Guild of St. Andrews church at the home of Mrs. S. S. Rockwood, yesterday afternoon was a most pleasant affair and being the first one for some time was doubly enjoyed by all. The first part of the afternoon was spent in sewing and much work was accomplished. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess later and the afternoon proved a very pleasant one for all.

JUNIOR GUILD ENTERTAINED

ELYRIA.—The Junior Guild of St. Andrews church was delightfully entertained in the guild room Tuesday evening. Misses Marie Tibbals and Eva Osborne being the hostesses. After the business meeting a social time was enjoyed and plans discussed for various amusements which the girls expect to see come into their own soon. A dainty and delicious luncheon was served later by the hostesses and the evening was a most pleasurable one.

HIKING AND NATURE STUDY OF 'Y' GIRLS

The girls of the Industrial Federation had an unusually good meeting in the Association gymnasium yesterday evening. Some of the time of the supper hour was spent in lively club songs. Next week the new song book will be ready and those who are not familiar with the songs will have the opportunity of learning them.

Mrs. T. T. Robinson, chairman of the department, met with the girls to organize a class in nature study and hiking to begin the first of May. The complete arrangements for this class will be made soon and we hope many of the girls will take advantage of this opportunity.

Mrs. Ruth Ely, the new secretary at the Association met with the Federation girls last night and they have expressed the wish that she might meet with them often.

Two of the clubs held their monthly business meeting last night electing their new club officers and their delegates to the Oxford conference. These will be made known at a later date.

FRIENDSHIP CLUB TO MEET FOR SUPPER

HEALTH IS A WOMAN'S GREATEST ASSET

Contrast the cheerful happy woman with head erect, the glow of health on her cheeks, the elastic step and bubbling enthusiasm as she goes about her daily tasks, with the woman who suffers from backache, headaches, dragging-down pains, nervousness and despondency. Such conditions are undoubtedly caused by woman's ailments which will yield to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which for many years has been restoring weak, ailing women to health and strength. Every woman who suffers in this way owes it to herself to at least give it a trial.—Advt.

DYSPEPSIA IS GREATEST ENEMY OF MODERN MAN

Distressing Malady Is Most Prevalent of All Present-Day Diseases — Thousands Are Relieved by Tanlac.

Of all the conditions that afflict humanity, chronic dyspepsia, or what is more commonly known as indigestion is probably the most prevalent.

This most universal malady has baffled the medical profession for years, and the most skilled specialists have been unable to cope with it successfully.

Hours might be consumed in describing the sufferings, mental and physical, of the sufferers from chronic dyspepsia and their failure heretofore to get relief. A morbid, unreal, whimsical and melancholy condition of the mind, aside from the nervousness and physical suffering, is the usual condition of the average dyspeptic.

Dyspepsia, or indigestion as the case may be, is usually caused by the eating of too much or unsuitable food, and the mucous membrane of the stomach becomes irritated, and there is set up an acute or sub-acute gastric catarrhal condition which prevents the proper digestion of the food. This food is apt to ferment and decompose and as a result the familiar distressing symptoms of dyspepsia may arise. In mild cases there is nothing more than an uncomfortable feeling in the stomach, with a certain amount of depression, headache, loss of appetite, perhaps belching of gas and occasional vomiting. There may be also accompanying intestinal symptoms, such as constipation, pains in the back, colic, etc. There may be only the familiar heartburn due to the inflammation of fermentation or putrefaction. In the most severe cases—those that last over a day or two—the symptoms enumerated may be marked and the general constitutional symptoms more evident. When this stage is reached the loss of appetite, the mental depression, and the general uncomfortable feeling in the stomach are much more pronounced. This is particularly true in acute gastritis.

It frequently occurs from continued errors in diet that this condition becomes chronic and the symptoms persist for an indefinite period. The appetite is very apt to be varied, but at times very good. Heartburn is frequent, if not constant. The stomach is painful on pressure, the tongue is coated, there is a bad taste in the mouth, and there are changes in the amount of salivary secretion. Constipation is also usually present, although diarrhoea may alternate.

Most cases of dyspepsia can be cured if the diet is properly looked after and with the proper treatment. Proper eating, the proper amount of food and hygienic living are the most important features of the treatment. Most people eat too fast and eat too much.

One noted authority has said "as the stomach is the fountain head of health or disease, as the case may be, Tanlac was designed primarily for the regulation of the stomach, liver and bowels, but it is no uncommon thing for persons who have used it to find that they have also been relieved of rheumatism and other ailments not generally recognized as having their origin in stomach trouble.

There is probably not a single portion of the body that is not benefited by the helpful action of Tanlac, which begins its work by stimulating the digestive organs, hereby enriching the blood and invigorating the whole system. Next it enables the weak, wornout stomach to thoroughly digest the food, permitting the assimilation of the nourishing elements.

Millions of people have not only been relieved of the most obstinate forms of dyspepsia and indigestion by the Tanlac treatment after other remedies had failed, but many of them have reported a remarkable and rapid increase in weight and a return to normal health, and strength by its use.—Advt.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG
It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c and 30c.

BASEBALL SEASON STARTS TODAY

By JACK VEIOCK
(International News Sporting Editor

NEW YORK, April 13.—With cheering thousands looking on, the baseball season was opened by the major and several of the big minor leagues today.

Old King Swatt came back to his own with a vigor that proves beyond the shadow of a doubt the popularity and solidity of the national pastime.

Though shaken by inter-league disputes and the 1919 baseball scandal during the Winter, and threatened with further bumps when the White Sox players and gamblers with whom they are alleged to have conspired come to trial, the nation's pet sport took the centre of the stage as in other years.

Regardless of happenings in the past, baseball was welcomed back heartily by the great army of fans. The game itself is too great to be wrecked by the missteps of a few misguided and near-sighted players.

The American and National leagues started their pennant races with bright prospects for one of the most successful seasons in their history.

Prospects Bright

In the junior major league the world's champion Cleveland Indians helped the Browns pry off the lid at St. Louis; the reconstructed White Sox invaded Detroit; the hopeful New York Yankees took on the Athletics at the Polo Grounds and the Boston Red Sox met the Senators at Washington.

John McGraw's New York Giants helped the Phillies open the National League season at Philadelphia. The champion Brooklyn Dodgers clashed with the Braves in Boston; the Cubs, under Johnny Evers, entertained the Cardinals in Chicago, and George Gibson's snappy Fittsburg Pirates met the Reds in Cincinnati.

Pacific League Well Under Way

The American Association, the Southern Association and the Western League also opened their seasons today. The Pacific Coast League race, which started April 5, is just getting well under way. The International League will open its season a week from to-day.

With prospects of great races in the major leagues the club owners are looking forward to a season of unprecedented business at the turnstiles.

The Yankees and Cleveland Indians are sure to set a terrific pace in the American League from the very start, while in the national league the Dodgers, Giants, Pirates and Reds bid fair to make the pace red hot from the word "go."

Minors to be Heard From

The minor leagues have finally recovered from the depression caused by the war. The National Association reported twenty-two minor leagues solidly organized and making preparations to open the season as far back as March 15. Before the Summer is over there will be some twenty-five minor organizations in operation, according to indications.

While major league players have the world's series as an incentive to urge them on toward winning pennants in their respective leagues, the minors, this year, will have several "little world's series" to encourage them.

The American Association winners and the champions of the International League inaugurated a baby world's series last fall. It will be staged again this year. In the South the winners of the Southern Association and Texas League pennants will get together in a post-season series.

As the fans settled back to watch the stars of the diamond pry off the lid they had many figures of interest to follow.

Babe Ruth Central Figure

The great Babe Ruth, home run king extraordinary, was the cynosure for all eyes—some 40,000 pairs—at the Polo Grounds, where he hoped to get away on his marathon after a new record by crashing at least one baseball out of the lot.

The fans of St. Louis, from to-day on, will watch the work of their two champions—George Sisler and Roger Hornsby, winners of the major league batting titles in 1920—as they go out to defend their laurels against the wiles of the pitchers.

Seven new managers hopefully sent their 1921 entries into today's games.

They will be watched with keen interest.

Perhaps more interesting than any of the others is Ty Cobb, who is piloting the Detroit Tigers. Cobb's work as a manager will be of great interest and there are many who believe he will succeed.

The other new managers, new in position with the exception of Geo. McBride, are:

Bill Donovan, Phillies.
Johnny Evers, Cubs.
Fred Mitchell, Braves.
Lee Fohl, Browns.
Hughey Duffy, Red Sox.
George McBride, Senators.

Majors Prepared for Work

For the most part the sixteen major league teams started the pennant races to-day pretty well prepared physically to hop right into a season of hot competition. As usual, there were pitchers and fielders with sore salary wings, and there were Charley horses here and there that slowed up some of the regulars, but the spirit of competition was as keen as of old and the spirit of the fans as happy and spasmodic as ever before.

Figuring that to-day marked the opening of the season in five leagues, the National, American, American Association, Southern, Western and Texas leagues it was conservatively estimated that more than a quarter of a million fans trickled throught the turnstiles.

Capacity Crowds Expected.

Capacity crowds were expected at most of the major league openings. The management of the Yankees confidently looked forward to a crowd of 38,000 to 40,000, for Babe Ruth & Co. had Greater New York to itself.

In Chicago, where John Evers is extremely popular, the Cubs were expected to draw upward of 20,000 with the Cardinals as their guests and with the champion Indians as an attraction the St. Louis Browns figured to attract a crowd equally as large. In other major league cities crowds ranging from 12,000 to 18,000 or upward were looked for.

The quartet of games in the American Association, with Indianapolis, Louisville, Milwaukee and Kansas City playing at home was expected to draw close to 50,000, while games in the three class A leagues—Western, Texas and Southern—figured to attract some 75,000 sun gods.

Gamblers Beware!

Everybody connected with baseball from Judge K. M. Landis down bristled with confidence and optomism as the curtain went up today. And with the beginning of the pennant races the campaign against gamblers also got under way, with private detectives sprinkled through the stands in every major league park. The powers that be in the national game are determined to keep it clean henceforth and will leave no stone unturned to discourage and punish the element that succeeded in turning the heads of the eight indicted White Sox players in 1919.

Polo is one of the most ancient games, being played prior to 500 B. C.

The first rural free delivery in the United States was established in West Virginia in 1896.

HERE'S HOW THEY STOOD A YEAR AGO TODAY

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK April 13—Where will victory rest tonight when the opening games in the major leagues are finished and the big gala crowds have filed out of the parks in the National leagues?

Last year the teams that won the pennants—Cleveland and Brooklyn got away to a winning start on April 14. The scores of 1920 opening day games follow:

National League.
Boston 6, New York 3.
Brooklyn 9, Philadelphia 2.
Cincinnati 7, Chicago 3.
Pittsburgh 5, St. Louis 4.

American League.
Philadelphia 3, New York 1.
Cleveland 5, St. Louis 0.
Chicago 3, Detroit 2.
Boston 7, Washington 5.

Season opened April 15.

Walter Pipp, of the Yankees, hit the first home run of 1920 in the American league. Eddie Roush, of the Reds, contributed the first homer in the National.

PLENTY MATERIAL LEFT.

COLUMBUS, O., April 13.—Fortified with a wealth of material, Athletic Director L. W. St. John of Ohio State facing his hardest pruning job in years this spring, was able to lop only five heads from his varsity baseball roster this week. Thirty candidates are left, seventeen of whom are first stringers. Another weeding out is promised shortly.

LOCAL FRIENDS EXPECT HART TO WIN FIGHT

LORAIN—Alex Hart, ace of local lightweights, will take a decisive stride up the ladder of fistic fame when he locks horns with Willie Devore of Akron at that city Thursday night.

In Devore, Hart is accepting one of the hardest sluggers in the light weight class of the hit and miss game.

Hart will be in the prime of his fistic career for the bout with Devore. Under the expert tutelage of Johnny Kilbane he is rounding in championship form and will be on the job to furnish the Rubber City flash all the action he desires. Many of his close followers in the Fifth city predict a kayo in favor of the local ace.

A special car will be provided for the Hart fans. Reservations are going fast. Anyone desiring to make the trip should call George Forester at No. 2 Fire station.

STANDS OFF A LOT OF DOCTOR BILLS
Recommends Pe-ru-na for Catarrh of the Stomach, Colds and Grip
"I have used Pe-ru-na for several years and can heartily recommend for catarrh of the stomach or entire system. I always get benefit from it for colds and grip. It stands off lots of doctor bills and makes one feel like a new person."
E. F. BUTTLER,
R. F. D. No. 8, Box 51, Waynesburg, Kentucky.
It is wise to keep a bottle of Pe-ru-na in the house for emergencies. Coughs and colds may usually be relieved by few doses of Pe-ru-na taken in time. Nasal catarrh, indigestion, constipation, diarrhoea, rheumatism or other troubles due to a catarrhal condition of the mucous membranes all call for Pe-ru-na as the successful treatment. The health building, strength restoring qualities of this well known remedy are especially marked after a protracted sickness, the grip or Spanish Flu.
PE-RU-NA is justly proud of its record of fifty years as health protector for the whole family.

Inexpensive Gas-Saving Devices
The efforts of Federal, State and Economic authority and those of gas producing, transporting and distributing companies to conserve the supply of natural gas and prolong its use have brought manufactureres into the field with many new gas-saving appliances
Range makers are designing their appliances to burn gas economically and increase efficiency and auxiliary apparatus for use when it is not necessary or desirable to employ a large range or cook stove in the preparation of one or two items of a modest meal.
New and improved designs of heaters are on the market and others are in process of production and will soon be available for purchase.
The thrifty householder will investigate the merits of improved and approved gas-burning appliances between this time and next winter season for the two-fold purpose of saving in the expense for gas and improving service by the most efficient possible use of it.

STRONGHEART PROVES FINE VEHICLE TO SHOW TALENT OF CLEVER LOCAL AMATEURS

Before a small but enthusiastic and apreciative audience, the American comedy-drama "Strongheart" was presented at the Rialto theater, Tuesday night and will be repeated this evening.

It is hardly necessary to repeat the plot of this play which has been given here on two earlier occasions, but this much can be said that the offering last evening was certainly up to the standard set by the preceding players.

Each and every part was well taken. There were no long delays apparently all the lines were well remembered and from the production standpoint, the only criticism which could be offered was the fact that the curtain on the first act was somewhat later than schedule time in making its ascent, and this of course gave the "gallery gods" a chance to get in some demonstrations.

The situations were well carried out and contrary to most amateur performances the players were delightfully clear in their enunciation, which afforded the audience an opportunity to keep in touch with the incidents and trend of the play.

All of the boys took their parts with commendable trueness to life which may be accounted as the best kind of stage acting. The luncheon scene was decidedly as it should be and the picture was as true to life as it could be of a bunch of careless, happy-go-lucky boys trying to entertain and striking a snag when it came to produce the essentials both as to food and utensils in the preparation of a "feed."

There were three young ladies in the cast and while one of them had very little to do, she carried out her part as the sedate mother of the harum scarum collegiate to perfection. Miss Ruth Aussiker assumed this role most acceptably

As Molly Livingstone, Dick's sister, Miss Gene Gessner, had a difficult role, but filled it in a most aceptable and creditable manner. Her action in the stirring situations was most spontaneous and free from the affectedness so prone to amateurs and it was realistic to a marked degree which won for the young lady well merited applause. Her flights from seriousness to downright good fellowship ship with her brother's classmates was a bit of acting that was distinctly refreshing.

Miss Lucy Forbes in the part of Dorothy Nelson was all that could be asked for. Without any attempt at overdoing the assignment she showed finish in her work which was most commendable. Her acceptance of the final situation was a pretty and neat bit of acting

As to the other members of the cast, which was very smoothly balanced, they all did well and showed careful study of their parts, painstaking effort to be letter perfect and displayed a naturalness of speech and movement which tended to make the performance as a whole easy and very gratifying.

Undoubtedly a much larger audience will greet the players this evening and certainly they deserve the support of the theater-loving people of this city.

The cast of characters was as follows:

Taylor, a sophomore, Phineas Guthrie
Ross, a "freshie" Dwight Koppes
Reade, a "grind" Verne Braddon
Thorne, a special LeRoy Reisinger
Fred Skinner, a sport Albert Champney
Frank Nelson, a senior and captain of the football team, John Smith
Dick Livingston, a junior, Hubert Struthers
Billy Saunders, a senior Reginald Dwire
Soangataha, known as "Strongheart" a "P. G." Wayne Koppes
Mrs. Nelson, Franks mother Ruth Aussiker
Molly Livingston, Dick's sister Gene Gessner
Dorothy Nelson, Frank's sister Lucy Forbse
Nash, a back Albert Reed
Tad, a rubber, Don Halpin
Josh, a trainer, Malcolm Forbes
Buckley, head coach, a "grad" Arthur Horan
Farley, manager of the visiting team, Worth Fauver
Black Eagle, a messenger, Malcolm Forbes

Other men on the team:
Wendell Williams, Carl Heinzerling, Charles Davis, Gerard Patrick, Walter Scott, Henry Tulk, Philip Houserman, Harry Smith
Properties, Howard VanAtta

Act I—The room of Frank and Dick at Columbia university. A day in November.

Act II—The dressing room of the team at the Polo grounds. Between halves of the "big game."

Act III—The Nelson's library. Evening of the day of the game.

Act IV—Same as act three. Four o'clock on the following afternoon.

Furniture for the several scenes is furnished by Wilkins-Hurst Co.

WASHINGTON, April 13. — The federal reserve board has ruled that wine is not 'a'readily marketable staple'' and that drafts secured by wine in bonded warehouses, are not eligible for rediscount by federal reserve banks. The ruling, however does not affect the right of a bank to make a loan on the note of a borrower secured by warehouse receipts for wine in bond.

LEGAL NOTICE.
No. 17816.
STATE OF OHIO, LORAIN COUNTY, SS.
IN THE COURT OF COMMON PLEAS.
Henry Rosenthal, Plaintiff, vs.
Martin Sheldon, et al., Defendants.

The defendants, Martin Sheldon, Peter Emrich, Mary Barnes, Jacob Barnes, Jacob Berrnes, John Wyley John Weyley, Henry Wilcox, Ruben Nichols R Nichols, Frederick Albrecht, William Gilbert, David Cook, ——— Cook, his wife, Adam Rosenthal and the unknown heirs legatees, devisees, assigns, executors, administrators and creditors of each and all of the above named parties, and places of residence of each of whom is to the plaigtiff unknown, will take notice that on the 14th day of March, 1921, the undersigned plaintiff filed his petition in the Court of Common Pleas of Lorain County, Ohio, being Case Number 17816 on the Docket of said Court alleging that the plaintiff is in possession and the holder of the fee simple title to the following described real estate:

"Situated in the Township of Amherst, County of Lorain, State of Ohio and known as being part of Original Lots No. 89 and 90, in said Township, bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at a stone monument in the Southeasterly corner of Original Lot No. 90, being also the intersection of the center lines of the Albrecht and Fowl Roads; thence North 0 degrees 5 minutes East along the Easterly line of Original Lot No. 90, being also the Easterly line of Amherst Township and the center line of the Fowl Road, a distance of 1552.32 feet to a point, which is the place of beginning of this Description; thence North 89 degrees, 49 minutes West along the Northerly line of lands in Lot No. 90 now owned by Frederick Vietzen and passing through an iron pin set in a Westerly margin of the Fowl Road, a distance of 1322.60 feet to an iron pin in the Westerly line of Original Lot No. 90; thence North 0 degrees 33 minutes East along said Westerly Lot Line and the Westerly line of Lot No. 89, a distance of 1440.90 feet to an iron in the Southerly line of land in Original Lot 89 now owned by Frank O. and Emma Fowl; thence North 89 degrees 53 minutes East along said Southerly line of Frank O. and Emma Fowl, a distance of 692.50 feet to an iron fence post; thence North 0 degrees 13 minutes West along the Easterly line of lands in Lot No. 89 now owned by Frank O. and Emma Fowl, a distance of 1605.18 feet to an iron pin in the Northerly line of Original Lot No. 89, thence North 89 degrees 52 minutes East along the said Northerly Lot Line, a distance of 696.70 feet to an iron pin in the Easterly line of Original Lot No. 89 and the center line of the Fowl Road; thence South 0 degrees 5 minutes West along the center line of said road, being also the Easterly line of Amherst Township, and the Easterly lines of Original Lots No. 89 and 90, a distance of 3053.50 feet to the place of beginning.

Containing within said bounds 71.606 acres of land, of which 50.237 acres are in Lot No. 89 and 21.219 acres are in Lot No. 90, as surveyed by Warden and Laundon, March, 1921."

Plaintiff further alleges in said Petition that the above named defendants claim or may hereafter claim to have some interest in, title to or lien upon said premises, adverse to the rights of the plaintiff; that none of said defendants have in fact any interest in, title to or lien upon any part or all of said lands; that the plaintiff and those under whom he claims title, have for more than twenty-one years next proceeding the filing of this Petition been in the peaceable, adverse, actual, uninterrupted open and notorious possession of the premises herein described, adverse to the rights of each and all of said defendants.

The prayer of the petition is that all of the defendants be compelled to allow what interest in, title to or lien upon said premises they or any of them have, that any such claim be adjudged null and void and the title of the plaintiff quieted as against each and every one of said defendants and against all persons claiming by, thru, or under them or any of them, and that they be forever barred from claiming any interest in, title to or lien upon any portion of said premises and for such other relief as may be proper and the Court can give.

Said defendants are required to answer on or before the 7th day of May, 1921, or a decree will be taken against them as prayed for in said petition

DOCTOR SMITH THE GREAT EYE SPECIALIST WARNS THE PUBLIC TO CARE FOR THEIR EYES

Says Eyesight May be Strengthened Through the Law of Osmosis in One Week's Time in Many Instances

IT MAY COST A PRECIOUS LIFE TO FIND OUT BY EXPERIMENT

The heart of every user of tobacco bears a double burden. It does its alloted task and then fights nicotine for supremacy. As long as the heart wins he lives when it loses he dies, but before the final victory of nicotine you pass through many stages of decline and decay and suffer many pangs. Hearts are like human beings—some are stronger than others; therefore some hearts will stand more nicotine than others, but there is a limit to what any heart can stand. The man who puts this additional strain on his heart a dozen times a day by smoking cigarettes, a pipe of cigars—or chewing tobacco—is taking a madman's chance with health and life to lose and nothing to win but the chance that he may not lose them. He is indulging in a costly habit at the expense of precious health. Ask any doctor anywhere, and he will tell you that using tobacco is injurious and that it is far better to quit the habit than to experiment to find how much tobacco your heart will stand without serious results.

But the thought of quiting is unpleasant to most men—even to those who know that tobacco injures them—and to really quit takes more will-power than they have, and causes more suffering than they can voluntarily endure. To quit the habit makes it easy for yourself by getting Nicotol tablets and taking them as directed. The habit really quits you, and its departure is a pleasure equal to its indulgence.

If you want to know how much easier it is to quit the habit with Nicotol than without it, go twenty-four hours without tobacco and note what an effort it costs you; then begin using it as usual and take Nicotol tablets. At the end of a week discontinue smoking or chewing for a day, and it is probable you will have no desire to resume. At least your desire will be greatly diminished, and another week or two should make it not only possible, but a pleasure to quit.

Note: Dr. Connor, formerly of Johns Hopkins Hospital under whose advice Nicotol has often been used, said when this statement was shown to him: "I have known Nicotol to conquer the tobacco habit in less than ten days' time, and I can therefore recommend it highly." When the doctor's statement was shown to one of our leading druggists he said: "Nicotol is truly a wonderful remedy for the tobacco habit, way ahead of anything we have ever sold before. We are authorized by the manufacturers to refund the money to every dissatisfied customer, and we would not permit the use of our name unless the remedy possessed unusual merit." Nicotol is sold in this city under an iron-clad money-back guarantee by all up-to-date druggists, including C. C. Bowers.—Advt.

DOCTOR SMITH

New York—Doctor Smith says, "Most people's eyes go back on them between forty and fifty years of age unless they strengthen them while young." He further says, "Everyone young and old should know how to care for their eyes in order to prevent the wearing of glasses by strengthening the eye muscles through the law of Osmosis." Again he says, "The eyesight even in old folks can positively be strengthened to a surprising degree by properly treating the eyes so as to build up the eye muscles, and take away the mist and haze in front of the eye lenses. Before the photographer can take a good picture the lens of the camera must be clean, so it is with the eyes. The eyes get misty and dirty and must be cleansed in order to see well." Very few farmers require distance glasses because most of the time they have an unobstructed view and use their eye muscles for distant vision; this keeps their eye muscles strong and well developed while the city man is restricted in his range of vision, and therefore does not properly exercise his eye muscles; thus they become weak and susceptible to eye strain. Doctor Bickstien, who is heartily in accord with the views of Dr. Smith, says there is no better method of preserving and developing the eyesight than the Bon-Opto method and he advises everyone of any age to use Bon-Opto to relieve such troubles as: inflammed eyes or lids; weak or watery eyes; itching, aching, burning eyes. Cold winds, glaring sun and snow cause a profuse watering and weakening of the eye muscles and a misty eye. These troubles may be quickly overcome through the daily use of Bon-Opto A single trial will convince you that it has a soothing, healing, cooling effect upon the eyes. Doctor Lewis, another physician of many years practice, says: "It is a strange thing to me why so many people hesitate to put anything into the eyes as it is just as safe to wash the eyes with Bon-Opto as it is to take a drin kof good pure, water. The eye is not the delicate organ many suppose. Look how we abuse them and yet they continue to serve us well." Dr. Connor says: "Misfit glasses have injured and weakened more eyes than any other one thing, and I advise everyone young and old to use method of treatment like Bon-Opto before resorting to glasses and even if one wears glasses they will find great relief and clearer vision by following the Bon-Opto' method. One man says after trying it: "I was almost blind; could not see to read at all. Now I can read everything without any glasses and my eyes do not water any more. At night they would pain dreadfully, now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me." A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this method for fifteen days everything seems clear. I can even read fine print without glasses."

NOTE: A city physician to whom the above article was submitted said: "Bon-Opto is a very remarkable, harmless remedy. Its constituent ingredients are well known to eminent eye specialists and widely prescribed by them. The manufacturers guarantee it to strengthen eyesight 50 per cent in one week's time or refund the money. It is one of the very few preparations I feel should be kept on hand for regular use, in almost every family." It is sold under a money back guarantee in Elyria and vicinity by all leading druggists.

NINE CITIES TO TAKE PART IN BIG MEETING

NORWALK, April 13—Another big Kiwanis night comes on May 3, at 7:30 p. m., the inter-city meet of Kiwanians of this section will take place at the Community high school building. Word has been received that 13 Kiwanis clubs will participate instead of nine as at first proposed, the complete list being Norwalk, Sandusky, Bellevue, Elyria, Port Clinton, Willard, Galion, Mansfield Lorain, Tiffin, Bucyrus, Upper Sandusky and Carey. Between 500 and 700 men are expected, Committees will be busy this week, preparing for the various features.

TWO STILLS STILLED BETWEEN STILL WALLS

COLUMBUS, April 12— A search of the country home of Stanley Klatka by Sheriff Holycross and his force of deputies failed to disclose the source of the persistent smell of mash.

So, the probe was continued in the residence on the Hebron pike near Reynoldsburg.

A sounding of the walls finally led to the discovery of the most cleverly hidden moonshine plant yet found by Franklin county officials.

Two stills, one capable of turning out 15 gallons daily, and the other 10 gallons were found between two supporting walls with a clothes press as the only entrance.

DOC GURNEY ADVOCATES REMEDY FOR SORE ARM

COLUMBUS, O., April 13—As a remedy for pitchers suffering from sore wings, "Doc" Gurney, Ohio State trainer, advocates basketball.

If a pitcher is permitted to throw a baseball before his arm is right Gurney adds, he never can hope to develop the shoulder muscles properly.

Therefore, "Doc" asserts, the moundsman should toss around a basketball for a week or so to develop the larger muscles and to ease the strain on the smaller ones.

ONE KILLED; BUILDING WRECKED BY EXPLOSION

AKRON, April 12.—L. S. Morgan was killed outright and six others seriously injured in an explosion at the Miller Rubber Company's plant at 7:31 this morning.

The entire building was wrecked and several of those adjoining were badly shaken.

A mixture of cement, gasoline and benzol exploded, causing the wreck.

Four men injured are being treated at the Miller emergency hospital while two others, more seriously hurt are in the City Hospital, where doctors say their recovery is doubtful.

Fire followed the explosion, but was extinguished by city departments before extensive damage was done.

PLAIN NOTICE TO OUR ALLIES

Because the attitude of this nation throughout the war and the peace negotiations was that the United States did not want and would not accept any material gains from the conflict, the other powers seem to have decided to deprive us even of our ordinary trade rights in the former German territories. Obviously, there is a very wide difference between spoils of war, as represented by division of enemy possessions, and the rights of private individuals of the various nations to engage in trade or in the development of resources on equal terms.

There has also been apparent a disposition on the part of the powers to proceed under the peace treaty and league of nations covenant as though the United States had ratified those documents and had representatives present at the sessions. Acting on this peculiar theory, the powers have proceeded to decide, without the participation or assent of the United States, matters in which this country has a direct and undeniable interest. Included was the allocation of the island of Yap to Japan.

In his note to our European allies and Japan, Secretary of State Hughes has corrected these erroneous impressions in plain language. He points out that the right to dispose of the overseas possessions of Germany was acquired only through the victory of the allied and associated powers; that the right accruing to the allied and associated powers through the common victory is shared by the United States, and that there could be no valid or effective disposition of the overseas possessions of Germany without the assent of the United States.

Continuing, Mr. Hughes points out that "as the United States has never vested either the supreme council or the league of nations with any authority to bind the United States or to act on its behalf, there has been no opportunity for any decision which could be deemed to affect the rights of the United States." Speaking of action under the peace treaty, the secretary says: "The fact that the United States has not ratified the treaty of Versailles cannot detract from rights which the United States has already acquired, and it is hardly necessary to suggest that a treaty to which the United States is not a party could not affect these rights." He further calls attention to the fact that even in the treaty itself equal rights to the former German overseas possessions are secured to the United States by the clause:

"Germany renounced in favor of the principal allied and associated powers all her rights and titles over her overseas possessions."

Furthermore, when the Pacific mandate document was drawn up, the name of the United States was included as one of the grantors. Our interest was thus specifically recognized. We have never ratified that document. On the contrary, President Wilson reversed the island of Yap from the provisions of the proposed mandate throughout the peace negotiations. His reservations were not placed in writing, but he has explained this as follows:

"As a matter of fact, all agreements arrived at regarding the assignment of mandates were conditional upon a subsequent agreement as to the specific terms of the mandates and, further, upon their acceptance by each of the principal allied and associated powers. The consent of the United States is essential both to assignments of mandates and the terms and provisions of the mandates, after agreement as to their assignment or allocation. The consent of the United States, as you know, has been given on either point as to the island of Yap."

It might be added that the United States has not given its consent to any part of the Japanese mandate, and is under no compulsion to do so. No allocation of mandates by the powers is valid until ratified by all. Japan, therefore, has no right so far to any of the North Pacific islands. The same applies to other mandate terms not ratified by this country.

This should be sufficient to cause the powers to "Stop, Look and Listen." It is an imperative notice to them that, instead of being all settled and closed, the mandate subject is still an open question. By proceeding as they have our allies have been guilty of a serious error as well as discourtesy.

Incidentally, it may be appropriate to note that the mandate system is something new in international relations, and that its adoption has been considered a mistake by many leading men in all countries. It takes away the German colonies without compensation but does not vest sovereignty either in the mandatory nations or in the league. Owing to the different interpretations that may be placed on the terms, and the certainty that there will be a constant tendency on the part of each mandatory to regard mandate territory as its own, the system will be a fruitful source of international trouble. It should be abolished, and the former German colonies ceded outright to the various powers.

An Editorial
ON BUYING

Few women know that their stanchest commercial friend is a lowly utensil in newspaper offices called the Hell Box For into the Hell Box goes anything that's useless or worthless—including advertising which is vicious or untrue

Nowadays newspapers, as well as most others of repute, maintain a rigid board of censorship of every line of advertising They insist that the advertising be clean and true, that it be a help and not a hindrance to readers

The primary reason of the newspaper is a selfish one. You, the reader, are its customers. If either news or advertising offends or deceives you, you will take your patronage elsewhere So a high-grade newspaper guards you on all sides—for its own benefit first; for you and the merchant next.

Accept advertising you see in this newspaper at its face value—it's gotten past the Hell Box.

Small-town women of America know advertising' More so than their sisters of the big city, they take it as the printed sales representative of the concern advertising and treat it accordingly If they don't like its specifications or its price mark, they say "No you can't sell me to-day, Mr Advertiser! Your colors are not right and your price is too high!" And they pass on to the next article that has a printed representative in the paper.

In fifteen minutes' perusal of the daily newspaper they have the city spotted, mentally, with great crimson circles labeled "Buy it to-day! It's a bargain!" One woman declares that she hasn't paid excessive price on anything for her home for so long she can hardly remember—simply through studying every last line of advertising, even thru the classified sections! "Someone always has something to sell at a price that I want to pay!" she explains. "I can't spend all day running around looking for them—so I read the advertising, thoroughly."

In these days, particularly, when women folks find themselves in absolute need of many things they've gone without for months, advertising is proving its worth.

Buyers find, to their surprise, that prices are about back to normal in a long list of articles If they're not at normal in one store, they are in another—and the advertising tells where.

Study your advertising as you would so many rectangles in a battle map; find out where your friend the merchant, is making price attractive and, other things being equal, such as quality, concentrate your buying upon him

And don't forget that Hell Box! It means that when you see it advertised, whether it be prunes or autos, soap or macaroni, dry goods or mineral waters, it has passed the Hell Box and is worthy of your money.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Lorain County Educational Movement. I.

ELYRIA—Is there any one who did not read the articles written in the papers of our city last week, also the same day one in the Press and another in the Lorain paper All were written by or were the result of an interview with the superintendent of schools and no doubt they did not give out such information until they were quite thoroughly justified in doing so, after realizing that this was the real and only way to cause the parent to create the remedy. We must recall the grand and able talk which our Mr. Vaughn gave last year at a few of our association meetings Had his talk been universal, and every mother heeded it, we would never have read such articles.

One can't just criticize short dress skirts, powder, etc, they are in a measure used universally and belong to this age, and perhaps in moderation would not be included as one of the reasons of criticism, but perhaps it is the morals of a few or the manner of dancing, which suggests modication, but the larger point in view is as Mr. Vaughn told us, social activities, which somehow oftentimes even the mother thinks a boy or girl must indulge in, so they may grow intelligent, broad minded and older than their real age happens to really be Sometimes these activities mix as oil and water, that is the schools are the looser or the pupil obtains less credits at the end of the semester Can we try in a measure to standardize activities during school year? Is there a way our superintendent or principal or the teacher can impress our boys and girls of the dire necessity of this being a time to conserve mentally morally, financially and in all these ways or we lose all we have gained in our great world's war achievement?

Home life every where is influenced by finance There is a lessening of amount of money which the wage-earner obtains, yet an increased demand oftentimes socially unless the mother or father guides the outside of school life of her daughter or son, with a realization that the school duties with music, church activities and household assistance that these combined with necessary rest or sleep is about all that can be successfully joined together into a space of 24 hours. Why not curtail some social activities in our schools? Put our schools in Elyria, yes, in Lorain county, on a high standard educationally, not by an increased effort of a superintendent, or principal, or teacher, but by the hearty co-operation of the parent, and our ambitious, inspiring young men and women in our public schools that they may be a little bigger and greater day after day?
